Subject: Trump Health Care Agenda Highly Unpopular in November 2020 Battleground States

Date: September 11, 2019

A new Public Policy Polling survey finds that health care is a key issue for the majority (69%) of voters in 2020 battleground states (AZ, FL, PA, MI, WI & TX) and that President Trump's health care record is a major liability for him with voters, including independents and even Republicans.

- President Trump's lawsuit, which began in a Texas court, to strike down the Affordable Care Act is unpopular with battleground voters, including Texans, by a 21-point margin. The majority of voters (55%) oppose the lawsuit's goal of striking down the Affordable Care Act, while only 34% think it should be struck down.
- By a 19-point margin, voters think that President Trump and the Department of Justice should drop their support for the lawsuit (54-35). This includes a majority of independents (52%), and even 30% of Republicans.

Beyond the implications of the Texas lawsuit for President Trump, battleground voters are overwhelmingly opposed to other elements of his agenda as well:

- An overwhelming majority (84%) support ending the ban on Medicare negotiating with drug companies to get lower prices for prescription drugs, which Republicans in the Senate Finance Committee recently voted against. This is an issue voters agree on across party lines, with 82% of Republicans, 86% of independents, and 85% of Democrats in support of ending the ban.
- A large majority of battleground voters (70%) also oppose a proposal from the Trump administration which allows health insurance companies to sell junk health insurance plans that don't cover prescription drug costs or protect people with pre-existing conditions. A majority of Republicans (58%), independents (62%), and Democrats (86%) oppose this proposal.

- Protecting Medicare is important to voters, with a majority (57%) saying that they would not consider voting for a candidate for President who proposed a new budget including $845-billion in cuts to Medicare, including majorities of Democrats (67%), independents (52%) and a plurality of Republicans (49%). Only 20% say they would consider voting for such a candidate.
- A clear majority of voters (68%) say that twenty million people completely losing their health insurance coverage as a result of the ACA being struck down is a major concern, including a majority of independents (65%) and a plurality of Republicans (48%).

The bottom line: President Trump's actions on health care are extremely unpopular with voters in key November 2020 battleground states, including independents and Republicans. Indeed, if framed around the issue of health care, voters say they would even vote for Attila the Hun over President Trump (45-41), if Attila the Hun would maintain and improve the health care law including protections for people with pre-existing conditions.

PPP surveyed 733 battleground state voters in Arizona, Florida, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Texas from September 4-5, 2019. The margin of error is +/- 3.6%. The survey was conducted by telephone on behalf of Protect Our Care.
