Subject: Health Care Could Be Deciding Factor in Close Alaska Senate Race

Date: October 21, 2020

A new Public Policy Polling survey finds that health care is shaping up to be a potentially decisive issue in the Alaska Senate race. A total of 86% of voters say it's either the most important issue (20%), a very important issue (40%), or a somewhat important issue (26%) when deciding who to vote for in the Senate race –this includes 78% of Republican voters and 90% of independent voters. Voters trust Al Gross over Dan Sullivan on key issues related to healthcare and the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and disagree with key Republican positions on healthcare. 50% of voters say they do not think the ACA should be struck down by the courts, including 62% of independent voters, which is leading to trouble for Dan Sullivan:

- A plurality of 46% of voters say they're less likely to vote for Sullivan due to his vote to repeal the Affordable Care Act with no replacement, including 56% of independent voters.
- 44% say they trust Al Gross more on the issue of health care (including 58% of independent voters) while 40% say they trust Dan Sullivan more.

Additionally, voters express serious concerns over the consequences of striking down the ACA:

- 57% say that eliminating protections stopping insurance companies from denying coverage or raising the costs of care for 135 million Americans with pre-existing conditions is a major concern, including 25% of Republicans and 65% of independents. Just 22% are not concerned.
- 56% say they have major concerns about over twenty million Americans completely losing their health insurance coverage if the ACA is struck down, including 23% of Republicans and 62% of independents. Just 28% have no concerns.

All this adds up to a very close Senate race, with Dan Sullivan leading Al Gross by just 3 points, 44-41. It's important to note that the undecideds for Senate are voting for Trump by 38 points, suggesting Sullivan has room to grow. But concerns over his record on health care are giving him trouble with independents and the party base, and illustrating the importance of the healthcare issue in the race overall.

Public Policy Polling surveyed 800 Alaska voters from October 19-20, 2020. The margin of error is +/- 3.5%. 50% of interviews for the survey were conducted by telephone and 50% by text message on behalf of Protect Our Care.

Q11 Despite the coronavirus crisis, the Trump administration is in court to strike down our entire health care law, known as the Affordable Care Act, without any replacement. Do you think our health care law should be struck down by the courts, or not?

Think it should be struck down	39%
Do not think it should be struck down	50%
Not sure	11%

Q12 Now I am going to read you a list of consequences that independent, nonpartisan analysts have identified could result from this court case striking down our health care laws, and then ask you whether you find that to be a major concern about the lawsuit, a minor concern, or not really a concern at all. Here's the first one: striking down the health care law would allow insurance companies to stop covering the costs of prescription drugs. Is losing guaranteed coverage for the costs of prescription drugs a major concern to you about this lawsuit, a minor concern, or not really a concern at all?

Major concern	50%
Minor concern	26%
Not really a concern at all	22%
Not sure	1%

Q13 Here's the next one: striking down the health care law would eliminate protections that stop insurance companies from denying coverage or raising the costs for 135 million Americans who have pre-existing medical conditions like cancer, diabetes, asthma, and coronavirus. Is this a major concern to you about this lawsuit, a minor concern, or not really a concern at all?

Major concern	57%
Minor concern	19%
Not really a concern at all	22%
Not sure	2%

Q14 Here's the last one: striking down the health care law would mean over twenty million Americans would completely lose their health insurance coverage. Is this a major concern to you about this lawsuit, a minor concern, or not really a concern at all?

Major concern	56%
Minor concern	14%
Not really a concern at all	28%
Not sure	2%

Q15 In the 2016 election for President, did you vote for Republican Donald Trump, Democrat Hillary Clinton, someone else, or did you not vote in the election?
