

PROTECT OUR CARE

Polling Clearly Demonstrates Americans Support The Inflation Reduction Act

House Democrats and Democratic health care proposals are overwhelmingly popular and will reduce healthcare costs and expand affordable coverage for millions of Americans when access to health care is paramount. Recent polling makes clear that the American public supports the Inflation Reduction Act and want it passed by Congress and sent to the President's desk as quickly as possible.

Morning Consult/Politico Finds Majority Of Americans Are Firmly Behind Biden's Health Agenda. Morning Consult/Politico, [8/3/22]

- 73 percent support for “allowing Medicare to negotiate some prescription drug prices”. Morning Consult/Politico, [8/3/22]
- 76 percent support for “placing caps on prescription drug price increases”. Morning Consult/Politico, [8/3/22]
- 73 percent support for “limiting annual out-of-pocket prescription drug costs for Medicare beneficiaries to $2,000”. Morning Consult/Politico, [8/3/22]
- 56 percent support for “extending Affordable Care Act subsidies that are set to expire at the end of the year”. Morning Consult/Politico, [8/3/22]

Data For Progress Poll Finds Strong Support For The Inflation Reduction Act Across Party Lines. Overall, 73 percent of Americans support the bill, including 95 percent of Democrats, 73 percent of independents, and 52 percent of Republicans. Data For Progress, [8/3/22]

Navigator Poll Shows Continued Support For Democrats' Inflation Reduction Act. A whooping 92 percent of Democrats and 59 percent of independents support Biden's plan to negotiate prescription drug prices and extend premium subsidies. Navigator, [8/3/22]

Data For Progress Finds Strong Support For Capping Insulin Copays. An overwhelming 88 percent of Americans, including 87 percent of Republicans, support Congress taking action to cap the price of insulin copays for those with private insurance and Medicare at $35 per month. Data For Progress, [7/22/22]

Navigator Poll Finds Overwhelming Majority Of Americans Support Democrats' Plan To Allow Medicare Drug Price Negotiation And Extend Premium Savings. Overall, 71 percent of Americans back the plan, including 92 percent of Democrats, 62 percent of independents, and 49 percent of Republicans. Navigator, [7/21/22]

PROTECT OUR CARE

AARP Poll Of 56 Most Competitive Congressional Districts Highlights Need To Pass Health Care Provisions In Reconciliation Bill. Voters over 50 are heavily motivated to vote in the 2022 election, identifying the following issues as “very important when deciding who to vote for”: Medicare, 75 percent, and lowering the cost of prescription drugs, 69 percent. AARP, [7/20/22]

Morning Consult/Politico Finds Overwhelming Support For ACA Subsidy Extensions. “7 in 10 say an extension of those subsidies is important...Nearly 9 in 10 Democrats back a renewal of ACA subsidies, as do roughly 3 in 5 independents. A 49% plurality of Republicans support an extension of the subsidies.” Morning Consult/Politico, [7/20/22]

Morning Consult/Politico Poll Reveals Vast Majority Of Americans From Across The Political Spectrum Back Democrats Plans To Lower Drug Prices. Allowing Medicare to negotiate prescription drug prices had the support of 82 percent of Democrats, 71 percent of independents, and 73 percent of Republicans. Caps on drug price increases is backed by nearly 80 percent of voters and limiting out-of-pocket prescription drug costs for those on Medicare is supported by more than 70 percent of Americans. Morning Consult/Politico, [7/13/22]

Navigator Poll Finds Majority Of Americans Support Medicaid Drug Price Negotiation And Believe It Is The Most Effective Tool To Fight Inflation. The vast majority of Americans support President Biden’s plans to lower health care premiums and allow Medicare to negotiate prescription drug prices, including 89 percent of Democrats, 56 percent of independents, and 52 percent of Republicans. Medicare drug price negotiation was ranked the most effective option for anti-inflation policy. Navigator, [7/6/22]

Data For Progress Poll Finds Overwhelming Majority Of Americans From All Political Stripes Strongly Back Drug Price Negotiation. “83 percent of national likely voters support giving Medicare the power to negotiate lower prices for prescription drugs, [including] support from 86 percent of Democrats, 81 percent of independents, and, perhaps most critically, 81 percent of Republican voters.” D4P, [6/29/22]