Fact Sheet: The Republican Default Plan Threatens New York Veterans' Health Care

The Republican Default Plan Threatens Medical Care for 225,400 New York Veterans.

House Republicans' "Default on America" Act cuts funding for the Veterans Health Administration (VHA) by 22 percent, which would result in 30 million fewer outpatient visits for our nation's veterans all across the country and 81,000 jobs lost across the VHA. That means 225,400 veterans could lose access to outpatient visits in New York, leaving them unable to get appointments for care like wellness visits, mental health services, and substance disorder treatment. Moreover, top House Republicans lied about their plans to cut funding for veterans' care and even threatened to investigate the Department of Veterans Affairs for releasing impact projections.

Republican Cuts Would Cause Significant Processing Delays For The 46 Percent of New York Veterans Enrolled In VHA Care. In addition to reducing access to outpatient visits, cutting funding for the Veterans Health Administration (VHA) would create a backlog of 134,000 claims nationwide and cut up to $565 million for critical upgrades to clinics and hospitals, delaying critical care for New York veterans who rely on aging VHA facilities for life-saving care. Around 763,000 New Yorkers are veterans—over 26 percent of whom are people of color—and around 46 percent are enrolled in the VHA system. New York accounts for more than 4 percent of VA Medical Care expenditures, ranking fifth in the country for total veteran population, and the state stands to lose greatly from GOP funding cuts.

New York Veterans Risk Losing Medicaid Coverage Under The Republican Default Plan. Republican paperwork requirements will purposefully make it more difficult for New York veterans on Medicaid to maintain coverage. Medicaid covers nearly 1 in 10 non-elderly veterans nationwide and plays a critical role for low-income veterans. 39 percent of veterans with Medicaid coverage rely on it as their sole source of coverage.

The 29 Percent Of New York Veterans with Disabilities Could Face New Barriers to Health Care. About 29 percent of New York veterans have disabilities, compared to just over 14 percent of New Yorkers overall. The GOP plan stigmatizes people with disabilities, requiring them to seek a determination from their health care provider that they are "physically or mentally unfit for employment" in order to qualify for an exemption from burdensome paperwork requirements. 54 percent of veterans with Medicaid coverage have a disability, and many Medicaid enrollees with disabilities or serious health conditions aren't enrolled in SSI or SSDI due to narrow constraints and existing bureaucratic obstacles.

New York Veterans Experiencing Homelessness Face Significant Barriers To

Maintaining Medicaid Coverage Under the Republican Default Plan. Veterans are more likely to face homelessness than the general population, and New York has among the highest number of veterans experiencing homelessness in the country. Republican paperwork requirements will purposefully make it harder for people experiencing homelessness to maintain Medicaid coverage. People experiencing homelessness face significant barriers to work, from physical and behavioral health conditions to homelessness itself acting as a barrier to employment. Furthermore, the Republican debt plan cuts funding for job training and job readiness counseling programs.

The GOP Plan Rips Health Care Away From New York Veteran Caregivers. The GOP plan would cut Medicaid coverage for caregivers of adults with disabilities or chronic or temporary illness, including New York veterans, who are more than twice as likely to have disabilities than the general population. For example, in many cases, if an adult child needed to leave the workforce to care for a veteran parent, they would lose health coverage.
